FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Accutest Point of Care Medical Products Now Available Directly from the Manufacturer, through MDSupplies DirectConnect System

Summary

Using proprietary DirectConnect technology from MDSupplies, customers can now purchase Accutest point of care diagnostic products and have them shipped directly from the manufacturer to their doorstep.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Florida (April 5, 2016) — MDSupplies and Service (MDSupplies), which offers medical supplies and medical equipment through an Amazon-type marketplace, has established a manufacturer direct relationship with Jant Pharmacal, a leading provider of point of care medical diagnostic products. The Accutest and Accustrip product lines offer an extensive selection of CLIA Waived tests for use in physician offices, clinics, hospitals, and laboratory practice settings.

The MDSupplies proprietary DirectConnect system is an online ordering portal serving as a single source for buying supplies from multiple manufacturers and vendors, all through a single order. The technology allows customers and clients to track shipments and analyze historical purchasing data, whether at a single site or across hundreds of locations. Customers looking to purchase the Accutest line of products through the MDSupplies DirectConnect system have no software to download, no account applications to complete, no minimum orders to meet, and no contracts to sign. They just need to visit the MDSupplies website, find the products they are seeking and checkout similar to a traditional ecommerce store.

Jant Pharmacal's point of care diagnostic products are FDA cleared and are backed by over 20 years of experience and industry leadership. Customers can now choose from over 140 Accutest products. Tests include pregnancy, Strep A infectious mononucleosis, H. pylori, TSH, immunological fecal occult blood tests (IFOBT), urinalysis readers and strips, as well as tests for sleep apnea. In addition, Jant Pharmacal offers a full range of drug and alcohol on-site test kits for use in workplace, occupational health, school, and public safety settings. Also, an extensive line of forensic field test kits are available for law enforcement and public safety.
